Delhi Metro 'cheapest' among world's top 10 networks at just $0.13

SNHEHA SASIKUMAR
New Delhi, 13 March

Prime Minister Narendra Modi inaugurated two new Delhi Metro lines on March 8 and laid the foundation stone for three more lines, making the Pink Line the country's first operational ring metro. The network now spans 416 kilometres (km) across 12 lines and 303 stations.

Yet among all that the Delhi Metro offers, one figure stands out: $0.13 — the lowest minimum fare among the world's top 10 metro networks. London charges $4.68 for a single ride, and New York $2. Even China claims four of the top 10 spots, yet all charge $0.42 per ride.

KEY MILESTONES

- Largest metro network in India
- First driverless metro in India — Magenta Line
- First to introduce contactless smart cards
- India's first 'ring metro' — Pink Line

Top metro networks in the world (2024)

Metro network	Minimum fare (US$)	Length (km)
Delhi Metro, India	0.13	350.42
Shanghai Metro, China	0.42	831
Beijing Subway, China	0.42	669.4
Guangzhou Metro, China	0.42	621.05
Wuhan Metro, China	0.42	486.3
Seoul Metro, South Korea	1.01	340.4
Madrid Metro, Spain	1.61	293
New York City Subway, United States	3	399
London Underground, United Kingdom	4.68	402

However, within India, Delhi Metro fares remain the highest among the country's networks. The Delhi Metro Rail Corporation revised fares in April 2022, raising the minimum ticket from ₹10 to ₹11 and the maximum from ₹60 to ₹64 for the longest journeys. This marked the first fare revision since 2017.

Kolkata Metro and Ahmedabad Metro charge the lowest minimum fare at ₹5 for 0–2 km, while most other Indian city Metro — including Mumbai, Bengaluru, Hyderabad, Chennai, Pune, Nagpur, Kochi, Lucknow, Kanpur, Agra, Jaipur, Noida, Gurugram, Indore, Bhopal, and Navi Mumbai — set the floor at ₹10.

What began with its first service in Delhi in 2002, under the leadership of E. Sreedharan — the 'Metro Man of India' — has grown into a vast network spanning more than 20 cities. For a city ranked 23rd globally for traffic congestion, the Metro remains Delhi's most trusted alternative.

India now has the third-largest metro network in the world, after China and the US. Delhi's size and place global ranking by network length, according to 2024 data, is expected to climb further as new lines come open.

Delhi and the National Capital Region alone account for nearly 44 per cent of India's total operational Metro network — almost three times the share of Maharashtra, the second largest at 16.7 per cent.

The latest expansion adds two new stretches for Delhi commuters: a 12.3 km section completing the Pink Line's circular route through Barari, Bhajnpura, and Yamuna Vihar, and a 9 km stretch extending the Magenta Line from Deepali Chowk to Majlis Park.

Three more corridors under Phase V-A — linking RK Ashram Airport to Indraprastha, Aerocity to IGI Airport Terminal 1, and Tughlakabad to Kalindi Kijal — are set to follow.

"Two decades on, the Delhi Metro stands as one of the world's largest and cheapest urban transit networks.

Top court disposes of PIL seeking pan-Indian menstrual leave policy

SC says no employer would give jobs to women in such a scenario

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, 13 March

The Supreme Court on Friday refused to entertain a PIL seeking a nationwide policy providing menstrual leave for women students and workers, observing no one would give them jobs in such a scenario and that such a provision would unintentionally reinforce gender stereotypes.

The top court, however, said the PIL was competent and may consider the representation and examine the possibility of framing a policy on menstrual leave after consulting all relevant stakeholders.

The PIL was accordingly disposed of with the direction to the authorities to take an appropriate decision on the stereotypes about women.

"These pleas are made to create fear, to call women inferior, that menstruation is something bad happening to them... this is an affirmative right... but that about the employer who needs to give paid leave," a bench comprising Chief Justice Surya Kant and Justice Jyotsna Singh said.

The bench was hearing a PIL filed by Shailendra Mani Tripathi.

During the hearing, the Chief Justice raised concerns about the potential social consequences of mandating menstrual leave through legislation.

He observed that such pleas could unintentionally reinforce stereotypes about women.

Senior advocate M R Shamsad, appearing for the petitioner, pointed out that certain states and institutions have already introduced menstrual leave.

He cited the example of Kerala, where relaxation has been introduced in schools, and added that several private companies have voluntarily provided such leave to employees.

Responding to this, the CJI said voluntary policies were welcome but cautioned against making such provisions mandatory through law.

"Voluntarily given is excellent. The moment you say it is compulsory in law, nobody will take them. Nobody will take them in the judiciary or government jobs; their career will be over. They will stop showing up at home after informing everyone," the CJI said.

The bench also highlighted the potential impact of such measures on workplace perceptions and the professional growth of women.

The bench also noted the petitioner's submissions, the bench said that the petitioner had already made a representation to the relevant authorities.

The bench stated that it was not necessary for the petitioner to repeatedly approach the court seeking a mandamus.

SC takes cognisance of illegal sand mining in National Chambal Sanctuary

BHAVINI MISHTRA
New Delhi, 13 March

The Supreme Court on Friday initiated suo moti proceedings over reports of illegal sand extraction in the National Chambal Sanctuary, expressing concern about the impact of the activity on endangered riverine species, which includes the critically endangered Gharial.

A Bench of Justices Vikram Nath and Sandeep Mehta said recent material placed before it indicated extensive mining activity in areas meant to be protected for wildlife conservation, particularly habitats linked to the gharial conservation programme.

"We have taken note of some recent newspaper reports and the report submitted by CSR, which required that the entire protected areas where the gharial preservation program is going on, they are being rampantly mined, the gharials are having to relocate because of this mining," the Bench observed during the hearing.
