Delhivery to gain from higher volumes, margins

Core transporation segments post strong numbers in Q1

The stock of logistics major Delhivery was one of the major gainers in the BSE 500 index, gaining over 7 per cent after a strong show in the BSE 500 index, gaining over 7 per cent after a strong show in the first quarter of 2025-26 (QiPY-25) and expectations of improved growth and margins going ahead. Given the Qishow and prospects going ahead mains and the stock in the stock has been a major outperformer, beating peers and major indices with returns of 49 per cent over the past three months. At the current price, the stock is available at price to earnings (P/E) valuation of 41 times is PYZY projected earnings.

The near-term trigger for truck back is the strong operational performance in Qi. Led by the core transportation segments of part truck back (PTL) and express parcel revenues were up 56 per cent year-on-year (Ye-9Y). While volumes for TL were up 15 per cent, express parcel segment saw a growth of 0 per cent over the year-ago quarter. On a sequential basis, while PTL volumes were flattish, express parcel volumes were flattish express parcel volumes were flattish, express parcel volumes were flattish express p

PIL volumes were up 18 per cent.
Commenting on the sequential increase in express parcel volumes, Kotak Research points out that the uptick in quarter-on-quarter volumes happened on Delhivery's pricing terms and on maginal changes in infrastructure investchanges in infrastructure invest-ments as a 1 per cent increase in delivery centres yielded volume gains of 14 per cent. While the core segments did well, the performance in the supply chain services and cross-border businesses under-performed due to exits from unprofitable contracts and weak seasonal demand. The firm, how ever, remains confident of scaling upthe supply chain business, given the pruning of portfolio, improving capabilities, and reducing low-margin contracts upthe supply chain business, given operating leverage, yield gains, and terducing low-margin contracts.

The operating profit margin performance of the core segments, the company expects margings to be in the 16-18 per cent range over the

was also strong. Express segment margins came in at 16.3 per cent due to network efficiency and oper-ational discipline while PTI: sprof-itability improved sharply to 10.7 per cent as compared to the year-ago margin of 3.2 per cent. The gains for this segment were on account of value-added services, operatine leveraee, vield eains, and next two years. It hopes to achieve this on the back of yield improve-ment due to improved volume mix and repricing of key contracts, improving fleet utilisation, invest-ments in automation, and operat-ments in automation, and operating leverage.

Motilal Oswal Research expects new services such as Delihivery Direct and Rapid to scale up while the Ecom Express acquisition could boost network synergies and lower capex intensity. With improvement in operating profit margins and an improved outlook, the brokerage has raised its operating profit estiimproved outlook, the brokerage has raised its operating profit estimates over FY26-FY28. Alok Deora and Saurabh Dugar of the brokerage expect Delhivery to report a net profit growth of $3 per cent over the FY25-FY28 period, and have a target price of ₹500.

Some brokerages believe that Delhivery will continue to gain market share. Anshul Agrawal and Kevin Shah of Emkay Research say, While risks of further insourcing by Meesho persist, industry con-solidation should result in prudent pricing discipline among Business-to-Consumer (BEZ) Operators. *Fur-ther a flight toward quality players would allow players such as Delhiv-Some brokerages believe that ther a hight toward quality players would allow players such as Delhivery to bolster market share gains. Amid challenges in the BZC industry persisting in the short term, Delhivery's ability to capture adjacent opportunities in logistics sets it apart from competition, they add.

Go for passive funds in core portfolio, active in satellite Mutual fund (MF) houses have launched over 100 passive funds in 2025, far surpassing active fund launches. With Jio Black-Rock MF entering the space — five of its new fund offers (NFOs) open for subscription on Tuesday (August 5) — the passive segment is set to get a boost.

Active runds can deliver alpha... Experienced fund managers can capitalise on market opportun-ities. "Fund managers can move in and out of sectors, stocks, or themes based on market opporthemes based on market oppor-tunities," says Abhishek Tiwari, executive director and chief business officer, PGM India Asset Management. Active management can be useful in falling markets. "Active funds have the ability to manage downside risk. Fund managers can adjust allocations when markets are overvalued to try and reduce possible losses," says Rajani Tandale, senior

but often fail to do so

Active funds may not outperform their benchmarks. "There is no guarantee of "There is no guarantee of outperformance vis-à-vis the index," says Mohit Gang, cofounder and chief executive officer. Moneyfront.
According to the S&P Indices Versus Active (SPIVA) India 2024 year-end scorecard, 74-88 per cent of funds failed to beat their respective indices ower In weare

Strategy risk is inherent in these funds: When a manager's these tunds: When a manager's decisions go wrong, or an established manager exits, returns can suffer.

Performance often fluctuates. "A fund that performs well in one cycle may drop significantly in rankings in subsequent

How to select a passive fund?

- Select funds with low expense ratios (0.1 0.3% ideal for index funds/ETFs)
- Evaluate the reputation of the fund house in index replication
- For ETFs, review average daily trading volumes (₹5 crore or more)
- Invest largely in funds based on broad indices years," says Tandale. Higher expense ratios

Higher expense ratios compared to passive funds can erode returns, while switching due to underperformance can trigger capital gains tax.

Some hold too many stocks. "Instead of picking winners, they dilute returns by owning dozens of average performers," says Soumya Sarkar, cofounders, Wealth Redefine. Predicting unterformers, over the outperformers over the next 7-10 years remains extremely difficult.

Passive funds: Simple

Passive funds; Simple and transparent Passive investing is straightfor-ward and transparent. 'These funds track a market "These funds track a market index, which is public," says Gang, Sarkar notes that returns depend solely on market growth, not on a manager's skill or luck. A low-cost, index-matching strategy can work well over time. "Once you invest in them, there's no need to worry about underperformance or manager chan-ges. Just stay invested," he says. Globally, passive investing dominates. In the US, over 51 per cent of mutual fund and exchange-traded fund (ETF) assets are in index-based strategies.

trategies. "In India, passive assets under management (AUM) have risen from 7 per cent to nearly 17 per cent of the industry in five years," says Tandale.

Beware high tracking error

Passive funds cannot generate alpha. Tracking error can cause deviation from the index, which deviation from the index, whi may compound over time. Tandale says they offer no downside protection: these funds fall in tandem with the market.

"Even if a stock is overvalued and dominates the index, a passive fund has no option but to go blindly overweight on it. Investors are also stuck with flaws in the index's composition, like over-reliance on a sector (such as teach in the near for the composition). (such as tech in the case of NASDAQ)," says Sarkar.

What you should do Retail investors should make passive funds the core of their portfolio for steady, long-term growth. "The core should ideally constitute the bulk of their portfolio. They can hold active funds in the smaller, satellite portion in anticipation of generating alpha," says Deepesh Raghaw, Sebi-registered investment advisor.
