Rallis India Limited, a Tata enterprise and a leader in the agri-inputs sector, proudly announces the launch of NuCode™, a pioneering brand dedicated to advanced biological solutions for soil and plant health. This strategic initiative marks a significant leap toward sustainable, science-led agriculture in India.

NuCode™ stands for “Nutrition Code”, reflecting the brand’s philosophy that optimizing crop yield and health begins with a scientific understanding of biological processes within plants and soil.

Under the NuCode™ umbrella, farmers will have access to a scientifically formulated range of biologicals, including:

- Bio-fertilisers – to enrich soil naturally

These products will be organized into systematic, easy-to-identify solution sets, replacing traditional products with a modern, framework-based system designed for today’s agriculture.

The launch of NuCode™ underscores Rallis India’s commitment to promoting sustainable, science-led farming practices. By empowering farmers with knowledge, tools, and training, we aim to drive the adoption of high-efficacy biological inputs across India and secure the long-term sustainability of agriculture.

NuCode™ products are designed to deliver visible, measurable results, helping farmers build confidence in biological solutions and reduce dependency on chemical inputs.
